Highlights

1st Quarter Highlights:

- March 2019 Zach Osborn Passport’s Health Educator and Stacy Crum CE Rep attended the Martin County Middle School Career Fair where they were able to educate students about the dangers of vaping and smoking. The students thought they were just using a form of water vapor and that wasn’t harmful until Zach and Stacy shared the fact every Juul pod contains nicotine, even when the packaging says it doesn’t.
- March 2019 Neonatal Abstinence Syndrome (NAS) Coalition of Big Sandy Area which was formed by Stacy Crum CE Rep and other community stakeholders in 2017 to educate the community on dangers of opioid addicted babies received a grant of total $5000 to fund the conference venue location and food. The group plans on inviting Gary Walls with the Kentucky Perinatal Association. As result of Stacy’s efforts with the grant Danielle Franklin-Harmon with Highlands Regional Medical Center is receiving $10,000 for a Safe Sleep campaign for newborns born at Highlands who aren’t going home to a separate crib for safe sleeping practices. The funds will to purchase Pack –N- Plays for the babies to use at home free of charge.

- A significant educational accomplishment is the Markethouse Theater Plays in which the message of mental health and self-awareness was able to be presented to hundreds of kindergarten students in McCracken County. This combats depression at an early age and with studies showing that this comes up earlier and earlier. Passport not only sponsored the plays, but it was our idea to put them on. This shows that Passport is leading the way in creatively problem solving significant issues for our young Kentuckians. These plays will be presented in multiple schools throughout the Western counties or Fulton, McCracken, and Graves.
- Health Fairs throughout the State, such as Passport’s third year participating with Thomas More College students and staff to promote healthy lifestyles utilizing campus health services and community resources. Partnering with local nursing students provides health screenings such as blood pressure and diabetes screenings. This is the third year Passport participated.
- Volunteers of America (VOA) Women’s Empowerment Series--Health Education Manager and 2 VOA Board Members are offering participants of Freedom House Women’s Addiction Recovery Program a once a month empowerment workshop to help program participants strengthen their self-esteem and resilience. Freedom House provides a residential treatment program for alcohol and/or drug dependent pregnant women and women with young children. This holistic and comprehensive program is designed to treat the women’s chemical dependency, to break the cycle of addiction in families, to reunite families broken apart by addiction, and to promote the birth of healthy, drug-free babies. Through the Women’s Empowerment Series, we are forging relationships with the women and providing them access to interact with professional women from different industries to help the participants learn new skills, build confidence, and learn how to give support to other women. We offer this series at both Freedom House locations and have about 20 women at each meeting.
- New Directions Housing Corporation Wellness Workshops. New Directions Housing Corporation is a not-for-profit community development corporation. Its mission is to develop and maintain affordable housing and vital communities in partnership with neighborhoods and other stakeholders across Kentuckiana. Health Education Manager has been invited to offer a series of workshops from the LIFE! Program (Lifestyle Improvements for Everyone!) to members of the community. The workshops are designed to help educate and empower people to be more active participants in their health and well-being. Through interactive engagement, participants learn concrete tips for better health choices and how to address social determinant factors like access to food.
- Health educator had multiple opportunities to do presentations on vaping, bullying, and nutrition to multiple groups of students of various age groups.
- Health educator had the opportunity to attend the resiliency conference in Floyd County. At this conference, the health educator was able to learn about how life events can affect children in ways that can destroy their lives before they are old enough to make their own decisions. Educator also learned how these life events cannot only affect their mental and social health, but also their physical health as well. With proper intervention, many lives can be drastically improved.
- Health educator met with the programs coordinator at the Roy F. Collier Community Center to discuss working together on a wellness themed day camp. They plan to do some day camps this summer and the health educator suggested a wellness theme. They seemed open to the idea and if they decide to put it into place, the health educator will do a wellness presentation as well as help come up with physical activities and games for the kids to do at the camp. Future meetings will be held further discuss the idea.

2nd Quarter Highlights:

- Fan Fair Event sponsored by KIPDA and Office of Aging and Disability. Health Education Manager participated in the event in Louisville that distributed fans to eligible people over 60 and people with disabilities to help ensure that they would have the means to fight the summer heat. Health Education Manager spearheaded a fan drive at Passport Health Plan. Associates generously donated $520 for KIPDA to purchase fans.
- Health educator got a chance speak to a group of special needs students about Health and nutrition. He showed them various health manipulatives to help them visualize the impact of things like sugar and smoking.
- Health educator spoke to a teen group at a public library about health and nutrition. He showed them health manipulatives and talked about things like, effects of sugar and smoking. The health educator brought packets of sugar for an activity where teens would guess the sugar contents of various Drinks then, use the packets to figure out exactly how much is in each beverage.

3rd Quarter Highlights 2019

- The Health Education Manager and several other trainers provided QPR (Question, Persuade, Refer) Suicide Prevention training to staff at Family Health Centers in Louisville. QPR teaches specific skills to notice the signs that someone may be thinking about suicide and then how to reach out to that person and get them the professional help they need. The day after we completed training, one of the all center staff who participated in the training had to use the QPR skills with a patient who called Family Health Centers. The call center staff was successfully able to direct the patient to the help she needed.
- The Health Education Manager worked with the Louisville Health Advisory Board's Respiratory Health Committee and the CHEST Foundation to bring the CHEST Foundation's Lung Health Experience to the Kentucky State Fair. In an effort to reach the public and continue to bridge the gap between patient and clinician, the CHEST foundation has expanded its COPD campaign to include the Lung Health Experience. This lung health expo brings local respiratory therapists and leading lung health experts to the public in a fun and inviting, carnival-like atmosphere. This event allows members of the community to connect with their local lung health champions so that they can begin the conversation about their lung health outside of the clinical setting, get their lungs screened by a respiratory therapist or pulmonologist, learn about different disease states, and gain empathy for those who have lung conditions like asthma or COPD. We screened almost 200 people at the one day event.
- The Health Educator was able to do multiple presentations on the dangers of vaping to students. One interaction resulted in the health educator being able to correct the misinformation of a student who was told by an adult that ecigs could be modified to produce just water vapor.
- The Health Educator has been trained to facilitate chronic disease self-management classes. This is a class for people who suffer from a chronic disease, are a caretaker for someone with a chronic disease, or have a loved one with a chronic disease. In the classes we go over different methods to deal with these issues using techniques like action planning, communication, distraction techniques, diet, and exercise.
- Both the Health Education Manager and Health Educator were able to participate in National Farmers Market Week press conferences in Louisville, Lexington, and Whitesville. The press conferences were organized by Community Farm Alliance, and the health education team spoke about why Passport supports the Kentucky Double Dollar program.

- PHP focus on working with the Childhood Obesity Prevention Action Team in western Kentucky with the Healthy Kids Summit held this quarter. This educational conference educated community members, teachers, and the general public on preventing childhood obesity. The action team, COPAT, worked with data collected across the counties of western Kentucky to show the progression of obesity in our children. The data can be found on purchasehealthconnections.com/copat website in the toolkit.
- PHP Community Engagement representatives participated in 100+ Back To School events across the Commonwealth. Onsite education and promo items to prepare students/parents for 2019/2020 school year.

4th Quarter Highlights 2019

- Passport Health Plan participated in the kickoff event for Welcoming Schools in Louisville. Certified Welcoming is an innovative program that assesses city and county governments on their efforts to include and welcome immigrants. Communities that meet the Welcoming Standard earn the title of Certified Welcoming. The Welcoming Standard provides a comprehensive roadmap for places building more cohesive and equitable communities and fostering connections between newer immigrants and longtime residents. Welcoming Standard outlines the core of what it means for a community to be welcoming and set out the smart local policies, programs, and partnerships that give communities the welcoming edge.
- Our Community Engagement Team has strong relationships with schools throughout Kentucky to continue outreach and education to families and students, as well as identifying resources within their communities for those families in need.
- The Health Education Manager has partnered with Dare to Care's Cooking Matter program to become one of their Nutritional Volunteers for the cooking classes. Dare to Care, with the help of community partners, offers a six week Cooking Matter course that teaches hands-on skills. Participants will learn to shop smarter and to stretch their food budget, use nutrition information to make healthier choices, and cook delicious, affordable meals. Each participant is given a Cooking Matters book that continues all of the recipes and nutritional and food prep educational information. It is a great resource guide. Cooking Matters can help families maximize the benefits they receive through federal nutrition programs like SNAP. Each class is team-taught by a volunteer chef and nutrition educator, and participants take home a bag of groceries at the end of each class. The Health Education Manager taught the nutrition component of the program to seniors at Sacred Heart Mercy Housing in Louisville. The women loved the course, and the engagement and graduation rate was high. The women were given a challenge each week to prepare the recipe we did in class. They were given the groceries needed to prepare the recipe. It was great to hear their stories about what worked for them and what they liked or didn't like.
- Through our partnership with American Heart Association, Passport sponsored several Simple Cooking with Heart series. Simple Cooking with Heart is an instructional program from American Heart Association where each week, a chef will demonstrate how to make heart-healthy and delicious recipes while sharing tips on budgeting, nutrition, food safety, and cooking skills. The series is either a 4 or 5 week session. The curriculum is geared to help get people to feel more comfortable cooking at home so they can eat healthier and save money. Participants get to sample the recipe that is prepared and are given recipe cards and handouts to help them recreate meal at home. The Health Education Manager participated in Simple Cooking with Heart series at Catholic Enrichment Center in Louisville, St. Stephen's Baptist Church in Hardin county, and William Wells Brown Community Center in Lexington. The Health Education Manager was able to participate in the educational portion of the classes and used the visual nutritional educational tools to help visually illustrate the importance of good nutrition.

- Health Educator had a table of health and nutrition information set up in the library. He overheard a woman asking the librarian about information on a heart healthy diet. The health educator was able to talk to her and give her some information about what could help her. The health educator showed her visual aids and websites to help her.
- Passport is very engaged with our communities in their efforts to address vaping issues. As an example, our Health Educator spoke to three groups of students about vaping at a youth conference. He went over the dangers of vaping including the harmful chemicals, amount of nicotine, and the harm they can do to the body. This is the second year in a row the health educator has done this event and he plans to do it again in the future.
- Health Educator was able to speak to HEART (healing empowering actively recovering together) to a group of recovering parents and grandparents about vaping. This program works with parents and grandparents in recovery. The program not only helps with the recovery process, but also teaches life skills like changing tires or budgeting for example. They also provide various types of education and helps people get custody of their kids back. They can bring their children as well. The health educator plans to do more education for this group in the future.
- Health Educator spoke to multiple groups of students about various health related topics. He worked with various school systems for different ages ranging from elementary to high school. The health educator will continue to work with the states youth to help to improve the health of our states future.
- Passport Health Plan Community Engagement Team's participation in the statewide FRYSC conference provided additional opportunities for community outreach, including schools, to provide education and assistance to our members.
- Passport Health Plan's participation in school career days provides education and information for those interested in health care careers.

The parents will learn how to face challenging issues with children and adolescents, as well as strategies to avoid incidents of challenging behaviors at home and other settings. The class will be led by a behavioral health specialist using interpreters in order to ensure effective communication and to assure Cultural and Linguistic appropriate effectiveness. The classes are free and open to the public in Jefferson County area.

4th Quarter Highlights:

- Passport Health Plan team is very engaged with civic, business and local Chambers, such as the Community Partnership for Immigrant & Refugee Families in Bowling Green. The goal of the meeting is to strength community building capacity to better serve the immigrant and refugee communities.
- KentuckyOne Health, Americana Community Center and Passport Health Plan in collaboration offered a class intended for parents to provide with information about Management of Difficult Childhood Behaviors. The class was suited to learn more about how to face challenging issues with children and adolescents as well achieve Cultural and Linguistic Competence and Inclusion. The class was led by a behavioral health specialist and in order to ensure effective communication, interpretation was provided in Burmese, Somali, Swahili, Spanish and Arabic. The workshop was offered to the public to assist in reducing incidents of challenging behaviors at home and other settings. Possible motives were examined to assist caregivers in determining the most effective interventions. The audience participated with questions and shared their concern of how Behavioral Disorders involve a pattern of disruptive behaviors in children causing problems in school, at home and in social situations.
- The following statement from one of our Community Engagement Representatives confirms Passport’s value to be onsite and available for various culture and providing specialized services, “During a member education session at a residential re entry facility I was able to assist several members in updating their address to ensure they did not miss any critical information. I was also able to assist a member who had lost their insurance due to being locked up get her plan active again. I also was able to assist a couple of members in setting up transportation for their medical appointments as they were not aware this was a benefit. One guy was not able to read well so he typically didn't read any information we sent, they were both thankful for the help and the benefits so they can make and keep their appointments.”
- Passport Health Plan’s commitment to assist cultural audiences carries throughout the Commonwealth. One example in Bowling Green highlights the Winter Fiesta on hosted by the City of Bowling Green and Bowling Green School District. Individuals from the refugee or immigrant community are targeted for this event. 4th Quarter Highlights 2019:

- Passport Health Plan is part of the organizing committee of the Transgender Wellness Summit. LGBTQ individuals face health disparities linked to societal stigma and discrimination. The objective is to educate and empower trans-individuals on issues of health and well-being; educate and inform allies and health service providers; facilitate networking, community-building, and systemic change. The goal is to create an accessible and respectful environment that is inclusive of diverse gender identities and expressions, as well as inclusive of diverse opinions and ideas. Since 2006, the University of Louisville Health Sciences Center Office of Diversity and Inclusion has provided a symposium centered on diversity, cultural competency, and equity in healthcare. Passport Health Plan collaborated in the creation and organization of the symposium that includes approximately 700 students from the University of Louisville Schools of Dentistry, Medicine, Nursing, Public Health and Information Sciences and Social Work, Sullivan University College of Pharmacy, and this year will include their Physician Assistant program. Passport Health Plan team participates as facilitators during these programs. Students work in inter-professional teams to coordinate care and identify solutions to promote health equity, as well as recognizing/assessing health care disparities in specific populations.
